As it has been and will be, people today are trying to be—to be more, to be a part of a movement, to change, to make their existence one that is made up of expressions, emotions, feelings; TO BE ALIVE. These are the simple things that distinguish us from machines. This year at Landry High was an active year—one that was ALIVE.

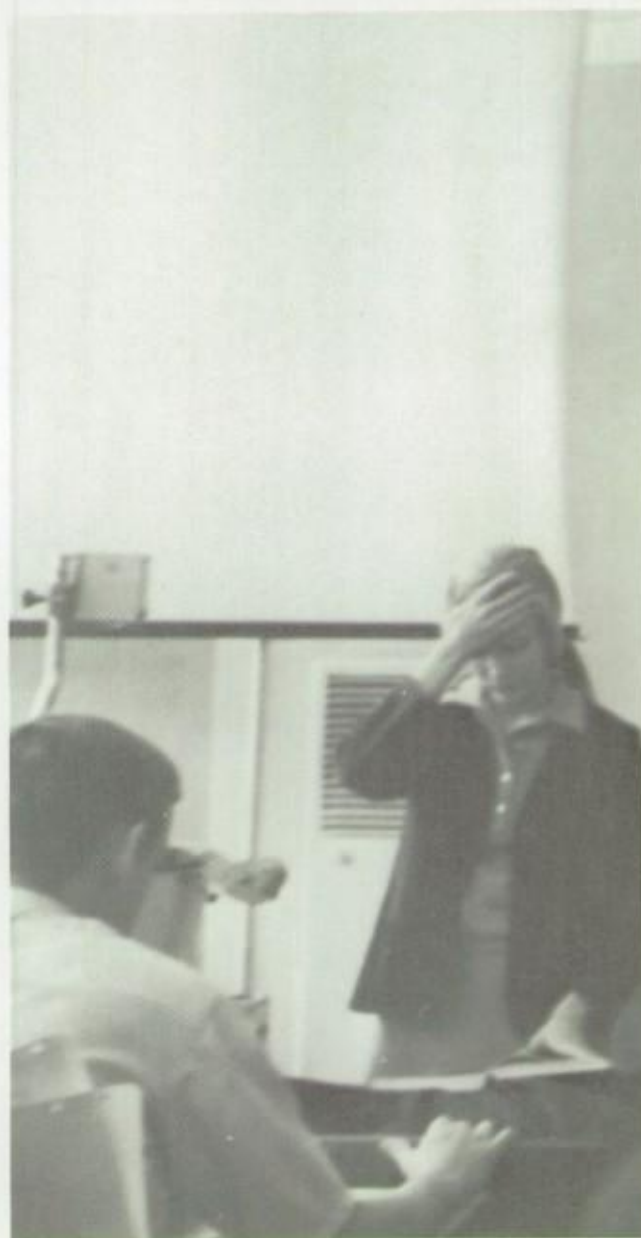

To be alive is to smell cigar smoke as you pass through the office, to get a good position in the hall to look at a funny poster, to light three firecrackers in a nominating convention, to see familiar faces at a cold and wet football game, to be spirited.

To be alive is to view a classic movie, to experience the traditional mixed emotions about the cafeteria food, to take for granted the dedication between the fans and the players, to have the urge to jump out on the court, to dig down deep in the last yards of a race, to fix a flat while a parade waits, to have a headache, to listen to another person's opinion or to listen to the opinions of two people at the same time.

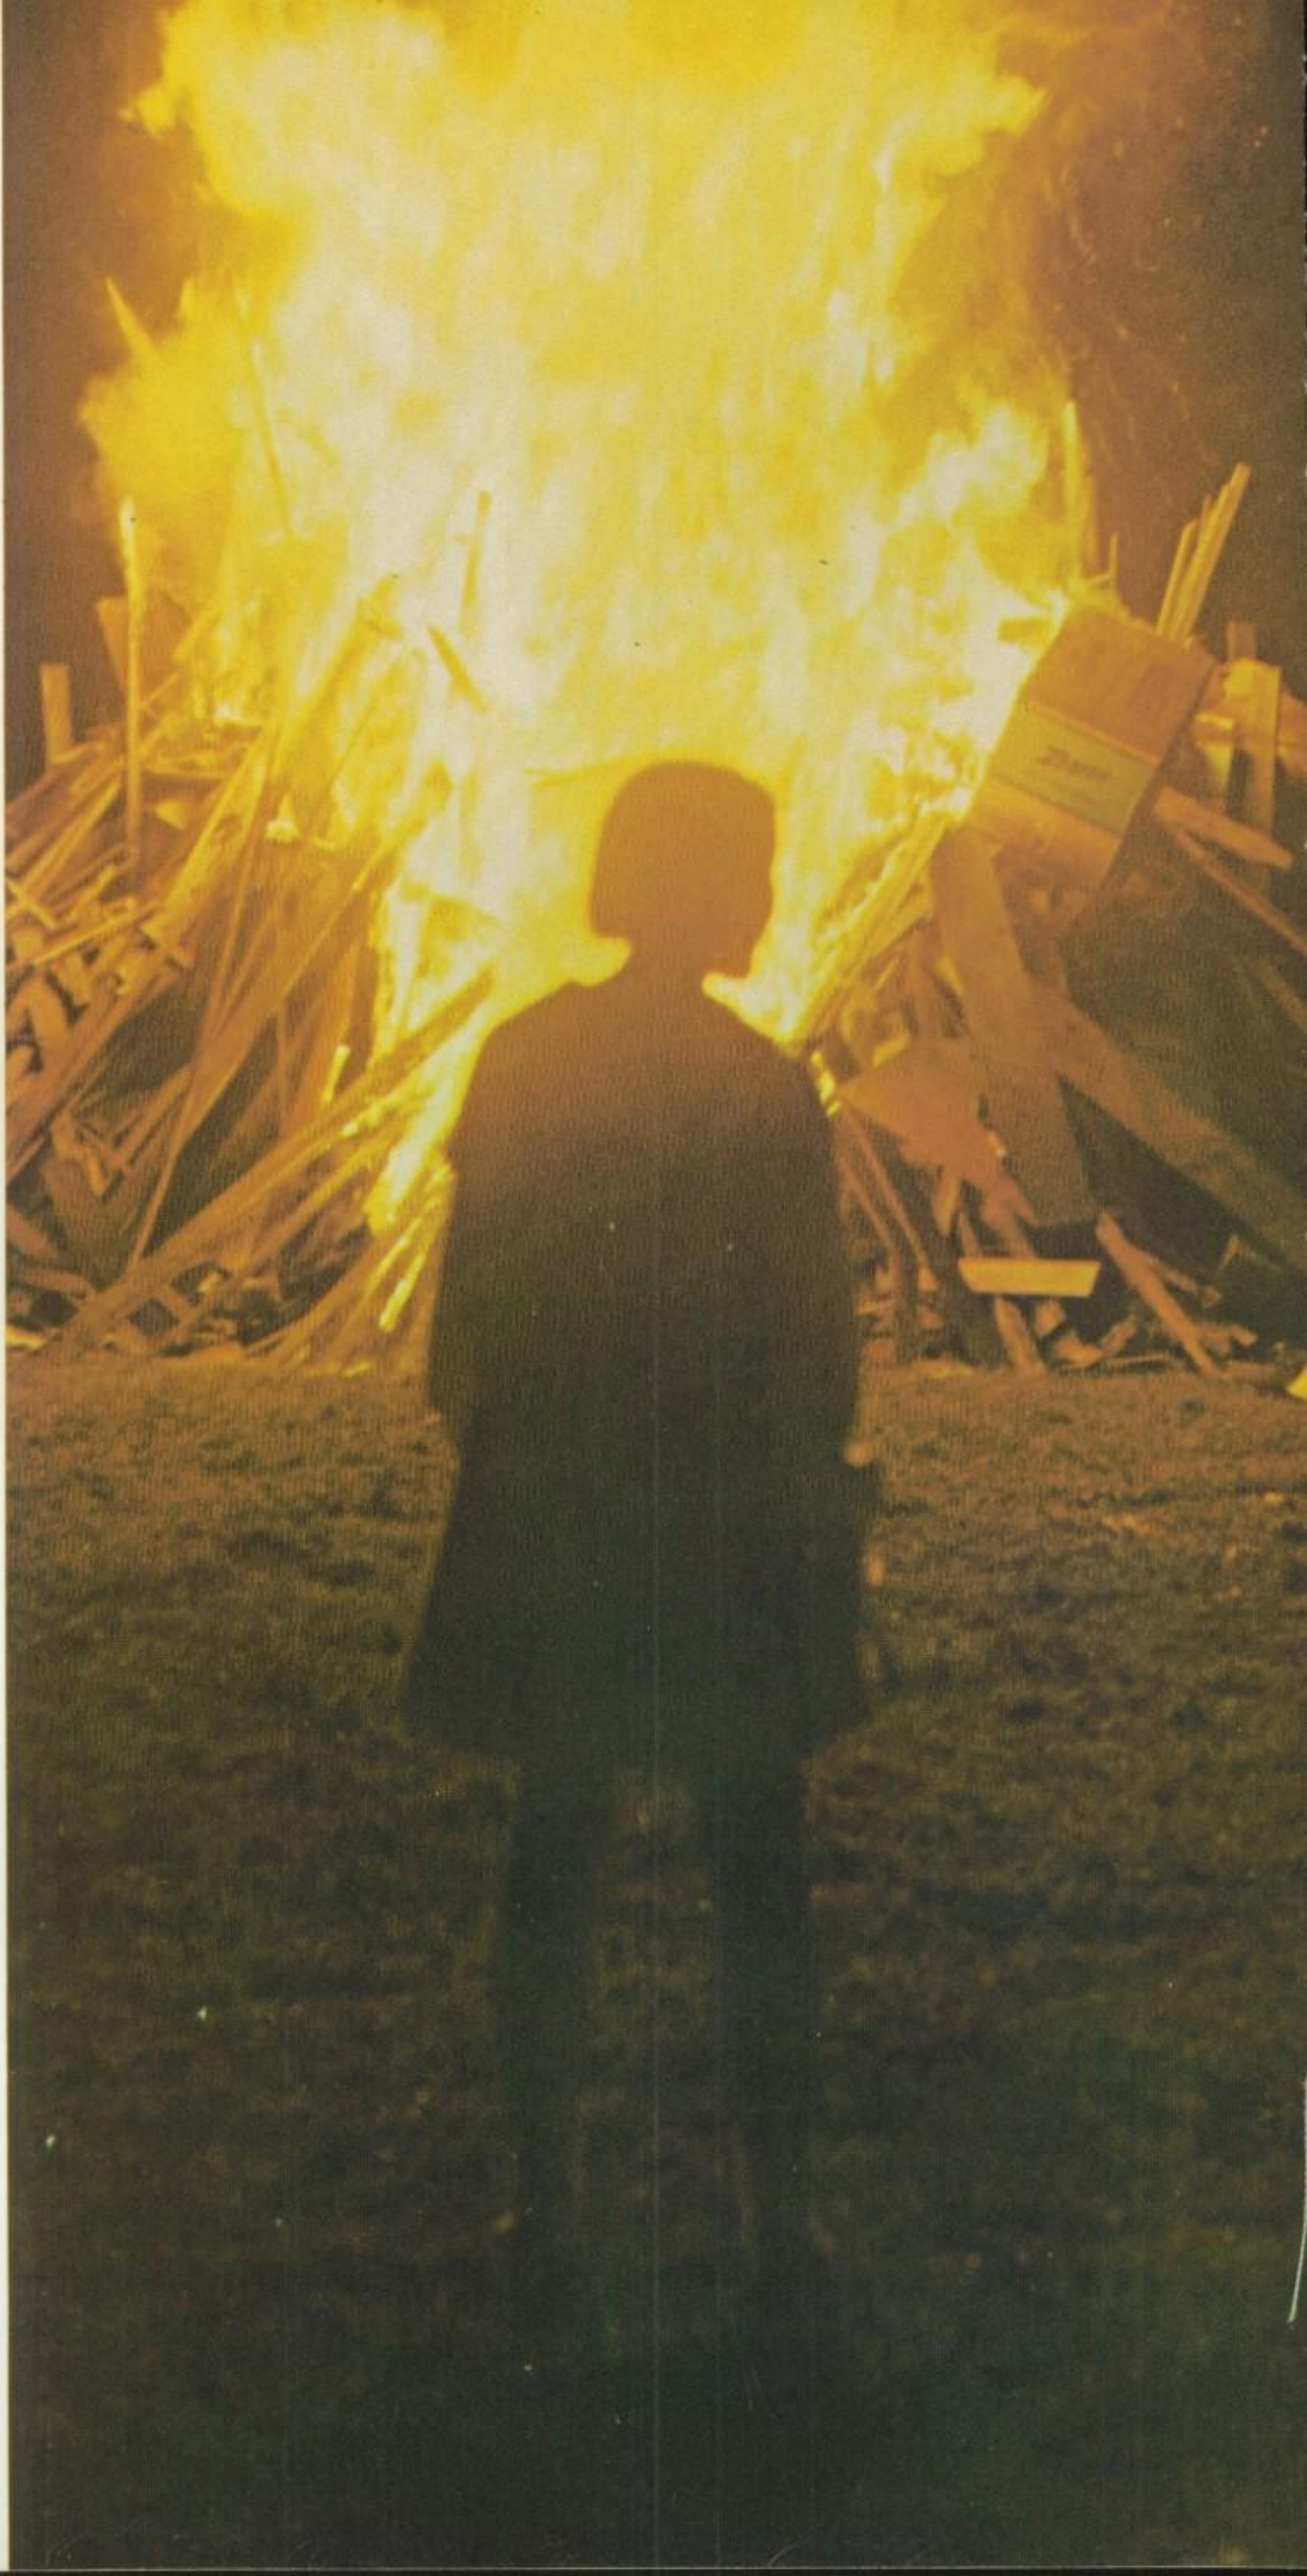

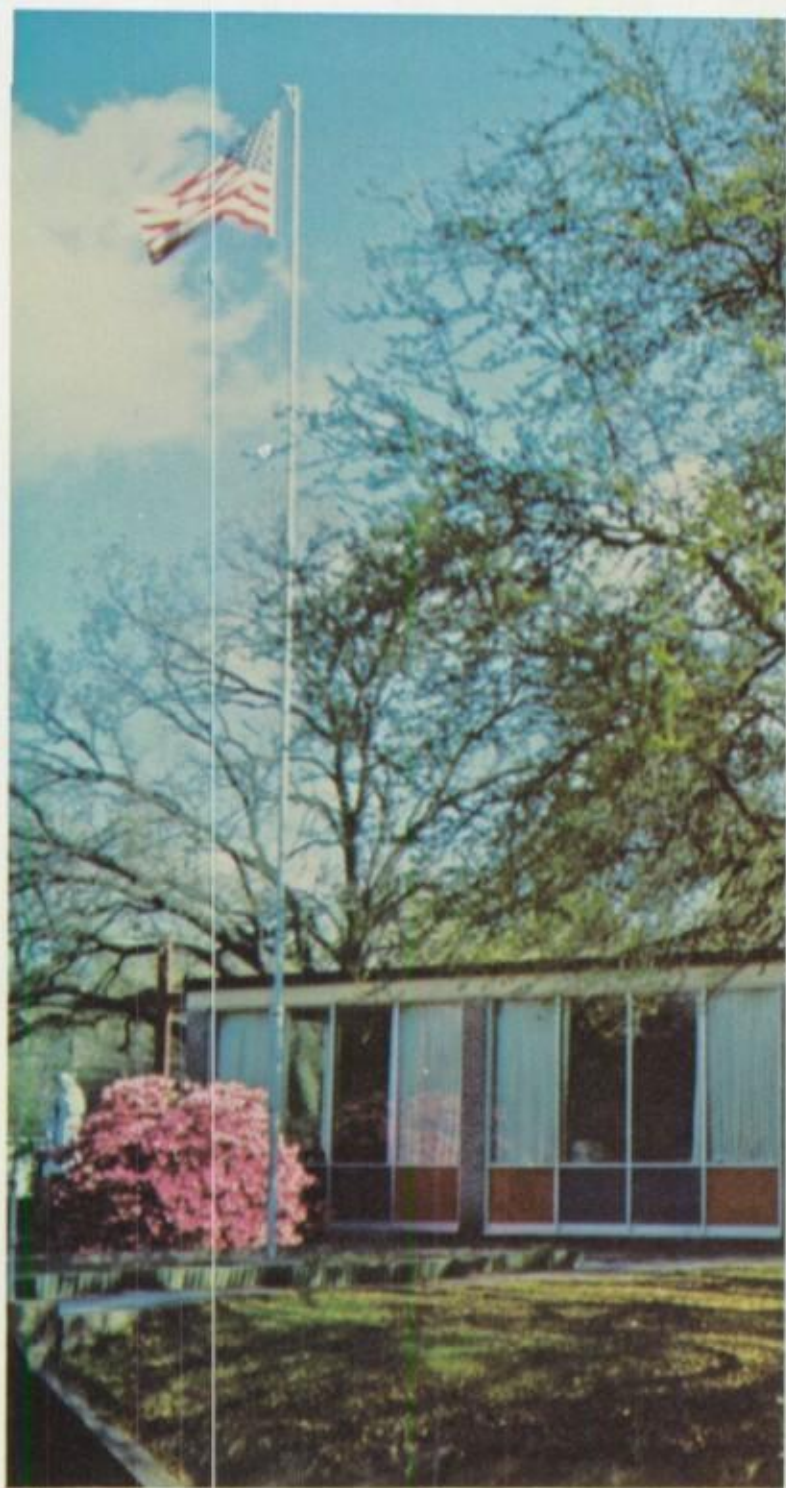

Being alive is breaking away from the daily routine and enjoy sucking on a lollipop while watching someone try to get in his locked car that's blocking the driveway or having the weird experience of putting on a show just by sitting there with legs caught in the back window. It's having your cleats stuck in the ground when someone hits your knee, being a part of the future consolidation of schools, wondering how we got behind, uniting to build a larger bonfire in a day than the one that burned down.

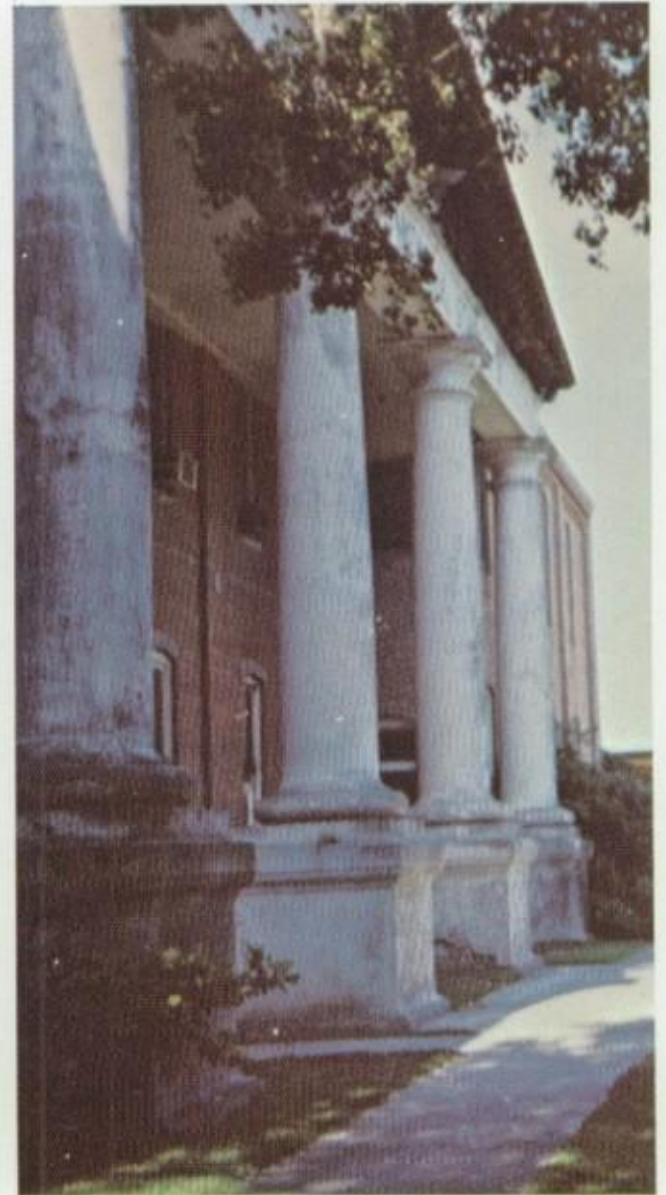

To live is to hear your principal present the Landry Court, to work on a Tiger Week decoration, to feel the heat and gaze into the fire as everyone begins to leave, to be a team, to share the excitement of a newly elected court maid, to work under the American flag, to dance.

To be alive is to remember the grandeur of an old building, the progressive functions of a more modern building, escorting a Landry Maid, standing among your friends, trying to cut the Senior cake in straight lines, posing for a picture you didn't think they would take, being a part of the intense spirit of Tiger Week.

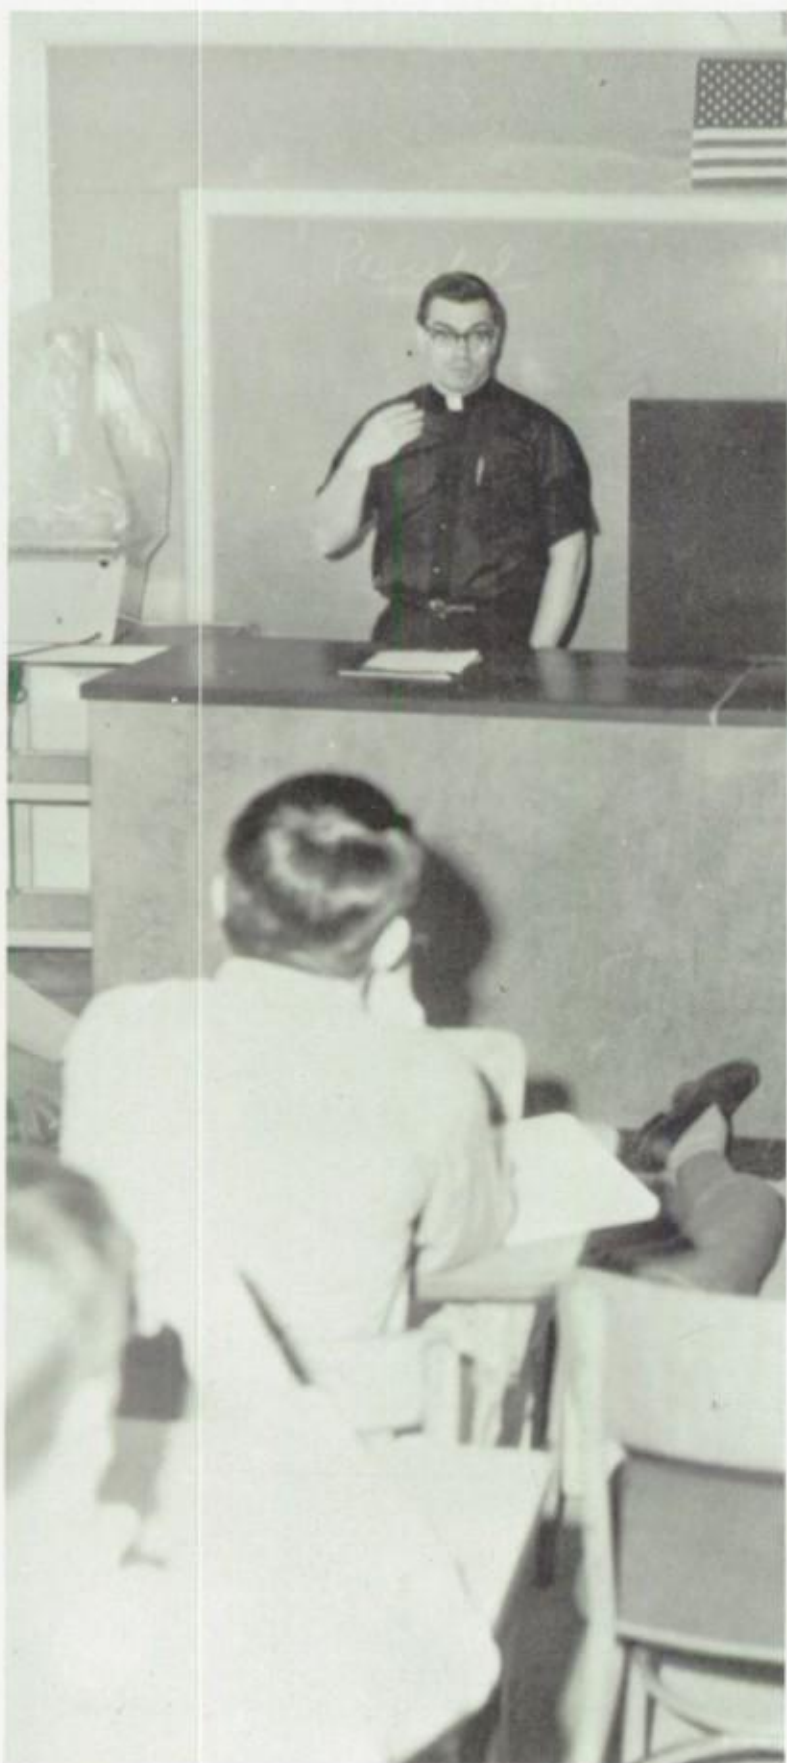

To be alive is to experience the uncommon feel of a little "mike," the internal flame of disagreement, the unbelievable, the somber and lulling atmosphere created by a fiery, uproaring, speech-making assembly. Throughout the year the students, administration, and faculty truly made this year come alive.

Dynamic Individual . . .

Accomplished Educator . . .

Challenged Innovator . . .

Father Robert Angelle, newly-appointed administrator, devoted his energy and talents to the successful consolidation of the new St. Louis High School. Under his leadership, Landry initiated a new era of progress.

Fr. Jarrell showed enthusiasm in his many explanations of geometry theorems.

Throughout the year, Mrs. De la Bretonne provided valuable assistance in the smooth operation of the office.

Efficient Personnel Supported School's Operation

From cleaning to counseling, Austin was always on the move.

The difficult transition from library to cafeteria for 45 minutes every day was efficiently brought about by the cafeteria staff.

Recreation period transferred Austin into "Another World."

Chris helped in the many little jobs that needed to be done around school.

Sowela Trained Students In Skills

Landry Students desiring an education in handicraft skills turn to Sowela Technical Institute where they are trained in practical fields. Sowela Tech offers a variety of trades. The main interests are Radio and T.V., Auto Mechanics and Drafting.

Sowela Tech provided an opportunity for Jim Mancuso, Gary Ackley, Mitch Edwards and Pat Hay to learn the basics of an automobile.

In the drafting class Tim Reagan, Ronald Broussard and John Liprie were taught the methods of mechanical drawing.

Ray Scott, Defensive Line Coach, Aubrey Woods, Freshman Coach, Bill Dolcambro, Offensive Line Coach, and Miles Gosnell, Head Coach.

Though ending the season with a 2-6-2 record, the Tiger football team showed championship spirit. They faced hard competition from their District 4-A opponents as well as powerful AA teams. Hampered heavily by injuries, the team struggled but never failed to display sportsmanship and courage. They met their weekly challenge and always made sure their foe knew the Landry Tigers were in the game.

During the year Ronald DeVille was counted upon as a mainstay in our ground game.

After shaking off one defender, Jeff Jones turned upfield in a big yard gainer.

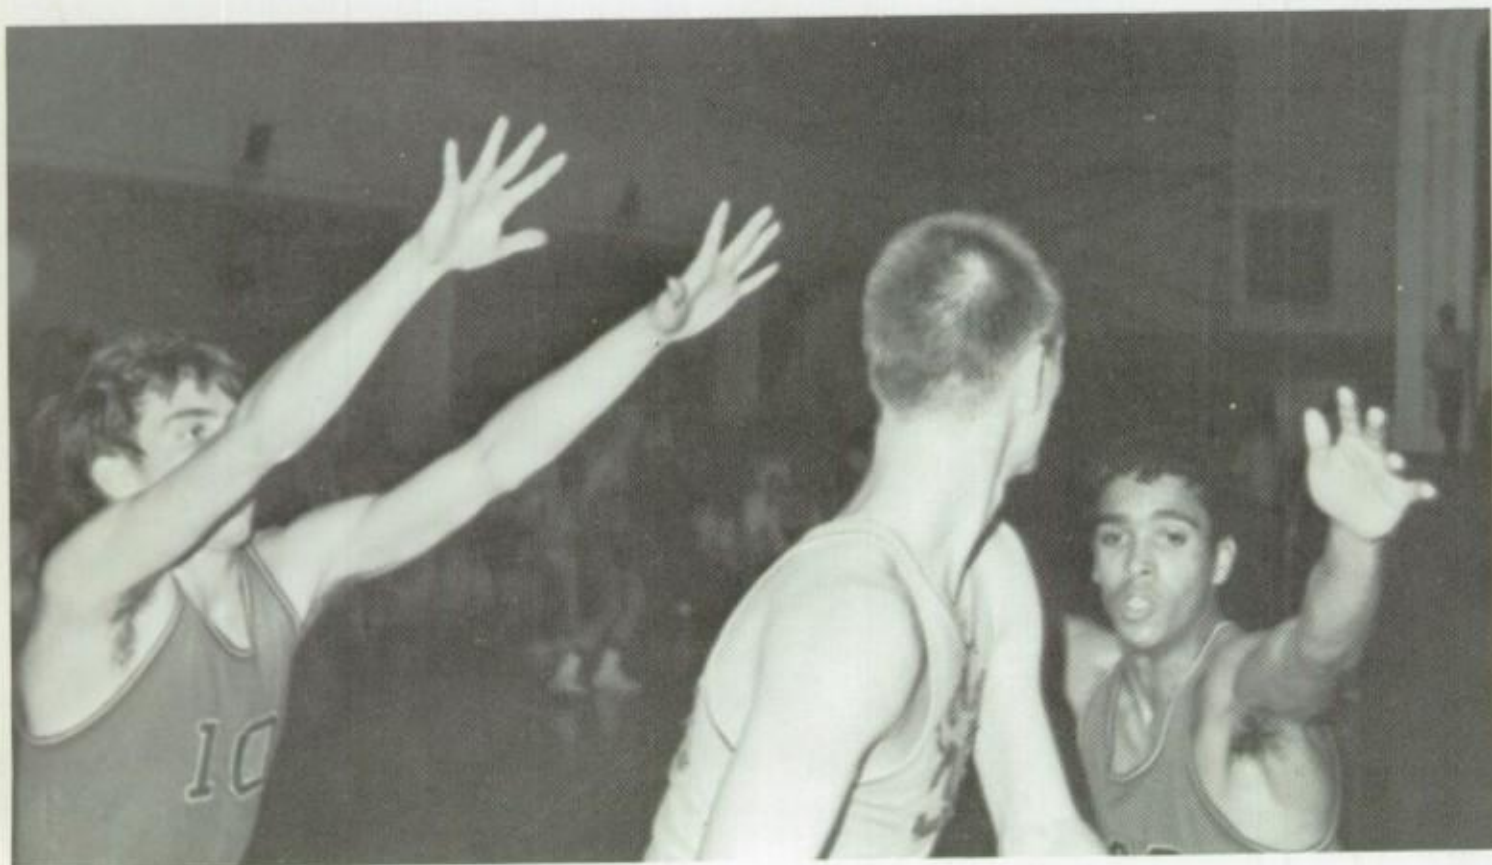

Tim Tate carefully listened to the plays he had to carry in after weak spots in the defense were discovered.

The Landry Cagers played a quick brand of ball throughout the 1968-69 season. Though starting the season poorly, the Tigers finally came to life in the last few weeks of the season, winning six of their last eight games and finishing with a 12-14 season record. The highlight of the season had to be the last-second victory over arch-rival Marion on Feb. 14.

Jeff Jones and Delbert Deville gave many players a hard time with the use of the zone defense.

Defenders found it no easy task to stop "Shoot" Jack throughout the season.

Tommy Stewart proved to be a versatile substitute when the opportunity arose.

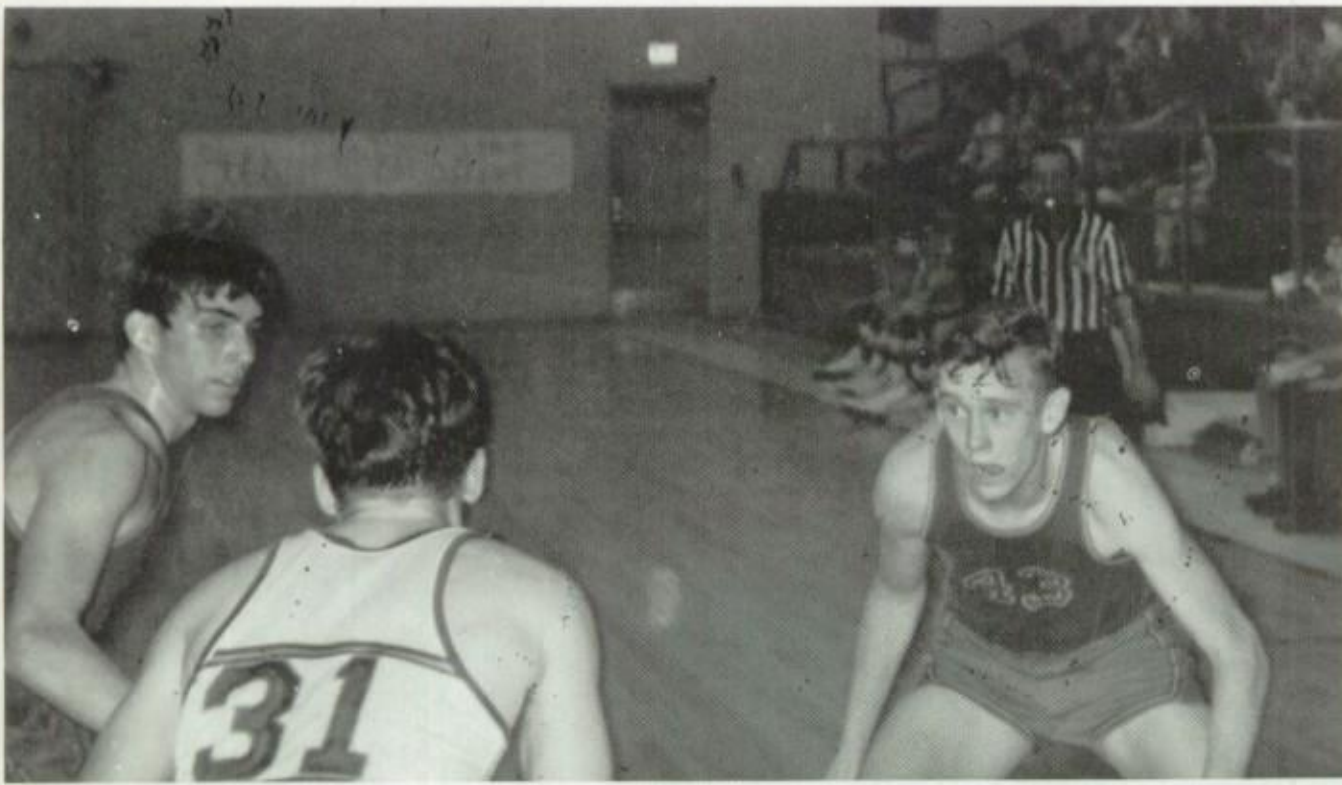

Mike Lynch gave a sample of the type of drive that made for exciting games.

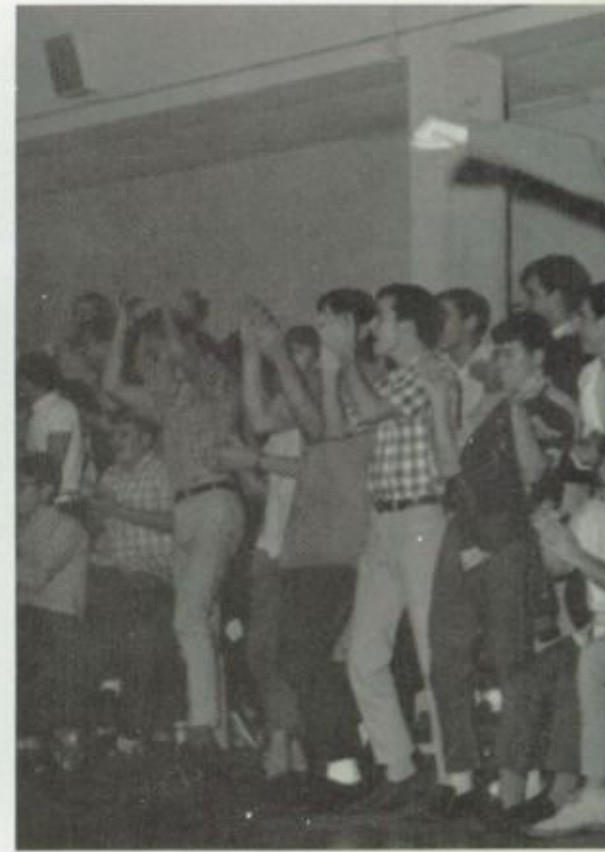

A call like that deserved a standing ovation.

His ability to jump made Delbert DeVille not only a threat on offense but a great rebounder.

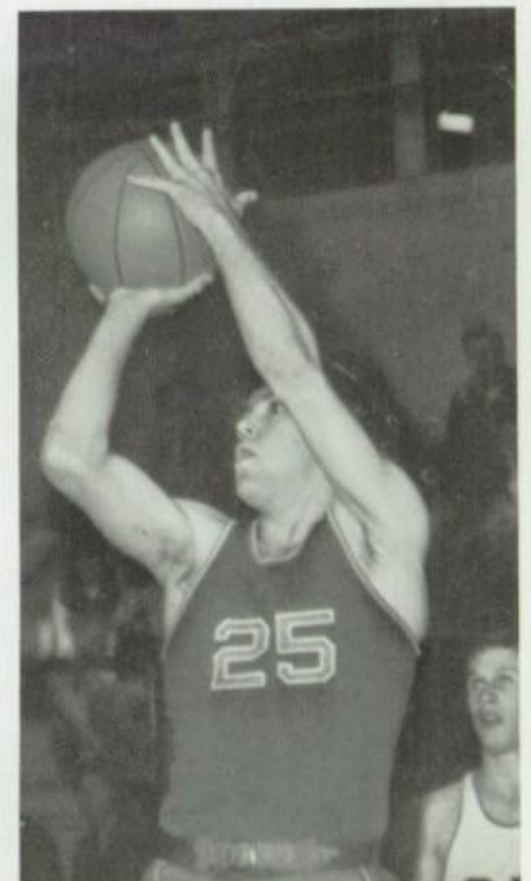

In the final moments of the first half, Jones and Judice pressed the Broncos to maintain a ten point lead.

Tigers scattered on to the court to congratulate players as the final buzzer sounded in the Marion game.

The team took advantage of the time outs, not only for information but unity.

Team participation was just as intense in the stands as on the court.

After graduation took a heavy toll from last year's State Runnerup team, this year's Trackmen were underdogs in nearly every meet in which they were entered. But, practicing on the old grass track at Landry, the Trackmen quietly got better and better. As official representatives of the student body, the Student Council functions in many capacities, speaking for the students and bettering their welfare. The 1968-69 Student Council instituted "Tiger Week" in place of the Fall Homecoming and rescheduled Homecoming for the alumni during the Christmas holidays. Seeking to better establish lines of communication and to provide a voice for student opinion, the Student Council helped form an academically-free student newsletter, "The ECHO."

Student Council members decorated the old building to prepare for the Alumni Homecoming.

Between Faculty And Students

The Tiger Week activities, one of which was the dance where Senior Rings were received was sponsored by the Student Council.

ECHO editor, George Anderson, worked hard to publish the first Landry newsletter inaugurated by the Student Council.

At the annual nominating convention, delegates bargained for votes.

One of the most important parts of a student's campaign for office is his acceptance speech given at the convention.

Interact Functioned To Aid

The Landry Interact Club is the service organization on campus. Working on school, city, and international levels, the club was guided by the Rotary Club sponsor, Mr. David Painter. This year the club was primarily concerned with school functions in projects such as the helping in St. Louis Consolidation work, taking over the Christmas Basket Program, and shovelling grass for the new priests' home. Following their motto of "Service Above Self," some other projects included helping Heart Fund Drive, working football concession stands, and cleaning the beach for the Y.M.B.C. "Memorial to Peace."

Officers were Michael Romero, Pres., Jack Judice, V. Pres., Tim Tate, Sec., and Steve Latiolais, Treas.

One of the many projects was working for the St. Louis H.S. Consolidation Drive.

The Christmas Basket Program was just one example of the type of community service they performed.

Impressive victories in three states highlighted Landry forensic activities during the past school year. Concentrating on increasing experience by meeting quality competition, the squad traveled from Houston, Texas to Mobile, Alabama and numerous places in-between to earn the most impressive record in history of Landry Speech endeavors. Victories included first place at State Debate Tournament, second place in both junior and senior divisions at Lafayette Diocesan Tournament, third place at U.S.L. Spring Tournament, and sixth place out of ninety-six schools at nationally prominent Bellaire Tournament. They also combined with St. Charles for impressive first place victories at Springhill College Tournament and McNeese State College Spring Tournament.

Oratory participants were Steve Hale, David Kay, and Tim Tate.

Travel To Three States

Tim Tate and David Kay traveled with their coach, Jude Theriot, to the National Catholic Forensic Tournament in Washington, D.C. where they were shown the sights by Rep. Edwin Edwards.

Interpretive Readers were Phillip St. Romain, Steve Hale, Mark Broussard, Mike Lanza, Harry Leverette, and John Duhon.

Jonathan Manuel and Ernie Fruge excelled in Duet Acting.

Le Grand Chat Staff

Under the guidance of Peter Stubbs and Editor Douglas Winn, the 1969 Yearbook Staff combined the experience of older members with the enthusiasm of younger members to produce the second volume of LE GRAND CHAT. Highlights of the year included a highly successful ad campaign, improved presentation, significant design modifications, and color.

Business staff members Kent Self, Mike Lynch, Mike Romero, and Business Mgr. David Kay organized the ad campaign.

Editor-in-Chief Doug Winn and Asst. Editor Jeff Mancuso discussed plans for color and additional pages.

The Senior Life coverage was made by Oneil Hebert, editor, Jimmy Mancuso, and Jeff Jones.

The copy staff headed by George Anderson was Philip St. Romain, Henry Yennie, Fred Boerman, asst., and Norman Morin.

Achieves Its Goal

Weekly meetings made it possible for instructions to be given and much work to be done.

The photographers who were always there before, while, and after it happened were Tommy Stewart, asst., and Ernie Fruge.

Literary Rally Team

U.S.L. MEDAL WINNERS: Michael Lanza, first in Latin II; George Anderson, second in Physics; Earl Robinson, second in general science; and Joseph Dartez, third in chemistry.

Literary Rally is essentially the measurement of a student's knowledge of the pertinent facts in a specific line of study. Landry, because of a limited curriculum and a lack of female participants, is at a definite disadvantage in team standings, and must seek condolence in outstanding individual performances. The 1969 team provided many of these individual victories.

Rally victories often came as a surprise.

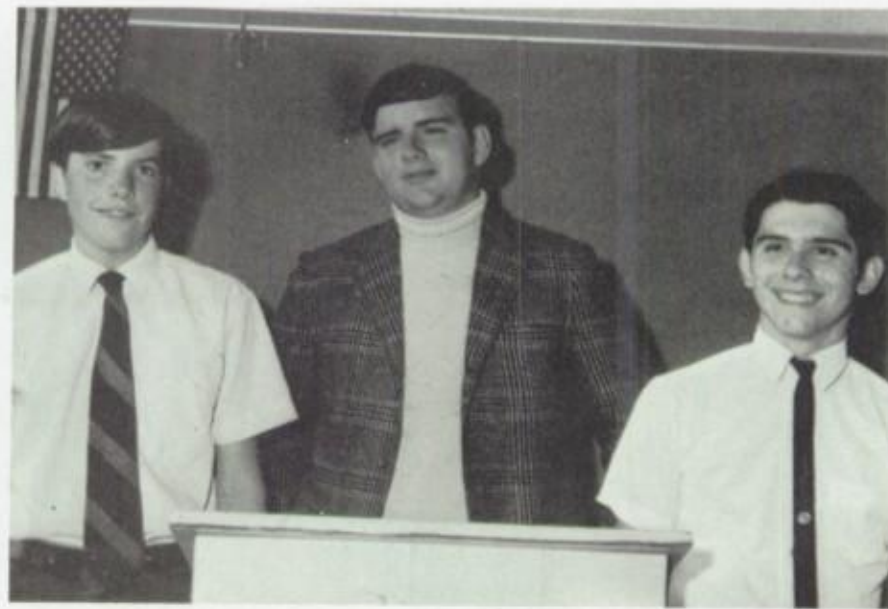

U.S.L. FOURTH AND FIFTH PLACE WINNERS: Eric Sylvester, fourth in spelling; Arthur Hebert, fourth in biology; Mike Lynch, fifth in English IV; Arthur Primeaux, fifth in Latin I; James Boerman, fifth in Trigonometry; and Donald Fontenot, fourth in General Math (Not Pictured).

Participated At U.S.L. And L.S.U.

STATE RALLY WINNERS: Joseph Dartez, first in Chemistry; Mike Lanza, first in Latin II; George Anderson, second in physics; Arthur Primeaux, third in Latin I; Eric Sylvester, third in Spelling.

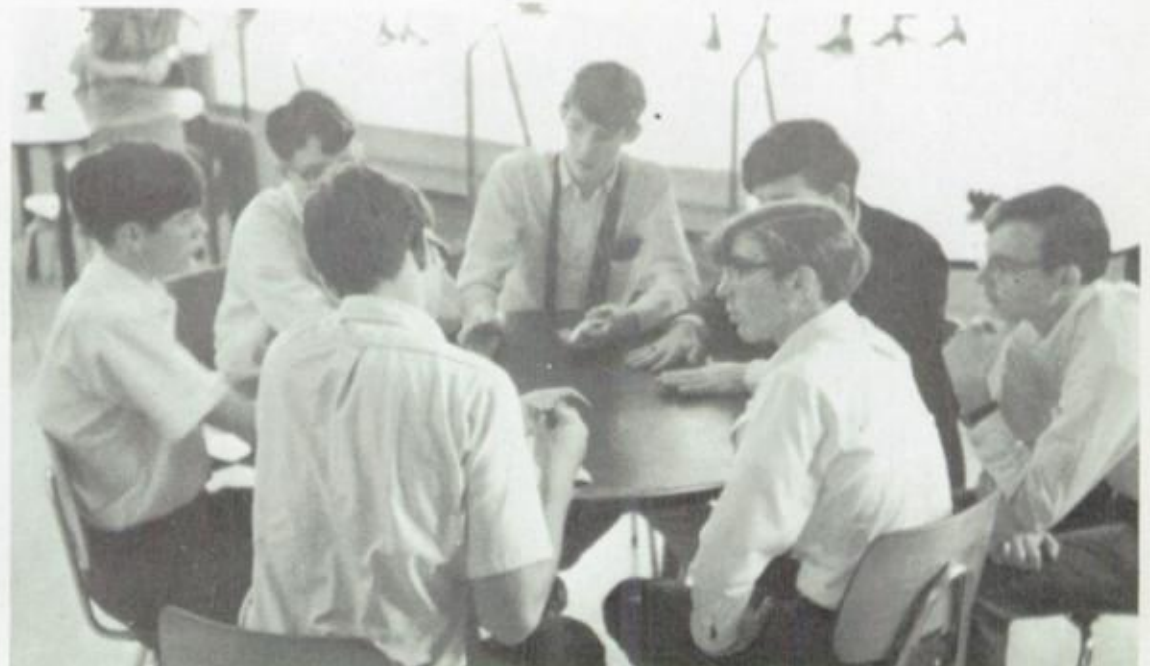

U.S.L. SPEECH WINNERS: Steve Hale, first in oratory; David Kay, second in extemporaneous speaking; Michael Lanza, fourth in poetry.

David Kay "bombed" U.S.L. campus in English Composition.

U.S.L. losers accepted defeat gracefully.

After hours of intensive testing, a casual break was welcomed.

Computer Field Investigated By Irrationals

Officers were Tim Tate, Pres., Tommy Stewart, V. Pres., Donald Broussard, Sec.-Treas.

The Irrationals spent most of its time investigating the new field of computer science. The Math club members visited the McNeese computer installation located on the Chennault campus through the cooperation of Mr. Johnson. Other activities of the club included a field trip to the computer center at USL. Under the leadership of the club sponsor Aubrey Woods, the Math club explained the purpose of the club to the students in the Math Week assembly, and made preparations for the coming year.

The demonstration by a computer to play tic-tac-toe was enjoyed by the Math Club during their field trip to Chennault.

Science Club Sponsored Annual Science Fair

The Landry Science Club, although only in its second year of existence, did much to promote an interest in science. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Carolyn Van Norman, the club held its annual science fair which was one of the most successful in recent years. To further promote an interest in this field, several students attended the science symposium at Westlake High School, where scientists explained their fields to the students. The activities of the club were culminated during Science Week by the invitation of two guest speakers from McNeese who demonstrated several experiments.

Billy Holloman, Pres., George Anderson, V. Pres., and Tommy Stewart, Sec.-Treas., were the officers.

MRS. CAROLYN
VAN NORMAN
Advisor

First place winners of the Landry Science Fair were Tommy Tannous, Mike Pitre, Ken Stafford, and Greg Miller.

Students viewed the science projects during the lunch hour.

Members Attended State Convention

Under the leadership of Mrs. Elizabeth Brame, the Latin club conducted a large variety of language oriented activities. Members of the club attended the State Junior Classical League Convention held in Monroe which sponsored Latin workshops, guest speakers, and a Latin Banquet. The height of the club's activities was the Latin Week assembly in which members told the student body of the activities of the Landry Latin Club and its plans for the forth-coming year.

Officers were (Seated) Mike Lanza, Pres., Arthur Hebert, V. Pres., Tommy Stewart, Sec. (Standing) Kent Self, Treas., Senators David Dilts, Fred Boerman, Gus Schram.

The activities of the Latin Club took shape at their monthly meetings.

At the Latin convention Latin lovers from all across the state gathered.

Library Club Promoted Interest In Reading

Every student in the Library Club learned the workings of the library through experience.

During Library Club Week posters were displayed to encourage students to use the library.

This year the Library Club promoted an interest in Library Science through a variety of club projects. Guided by Mrs. Alvina Hood, the club sponsored a book jacket contest awarding prizes to the first, second, and third place contestants. Library club members attended the state library convention. Also during the year the club invited guest speakers from various parts of the state and conducted book reviews. The library week finalized the activities of the club and ended a successful year.

Library Club officers were Robert Conner, Pres., Tommy Stewart, V. Pres., Steve Hale, Sec.-Treas.

In past years we have used Homecoming Week to show that we are Tigers, honoring the alumni as only one aspect rather than the prime function of the week. In order to give a more appropriate Homecoming to the alumni, that part of the week was transferred to the Christmas Holidays when most college students would be home. The name of these busy days was suitably changed to TIGER WEEK. Its activities were back to back and truly made one fun and exciting week. The Senior Ring Cake ceremony, the reception of rings, the football game and parade were some of the affairs that brought the campus to life.

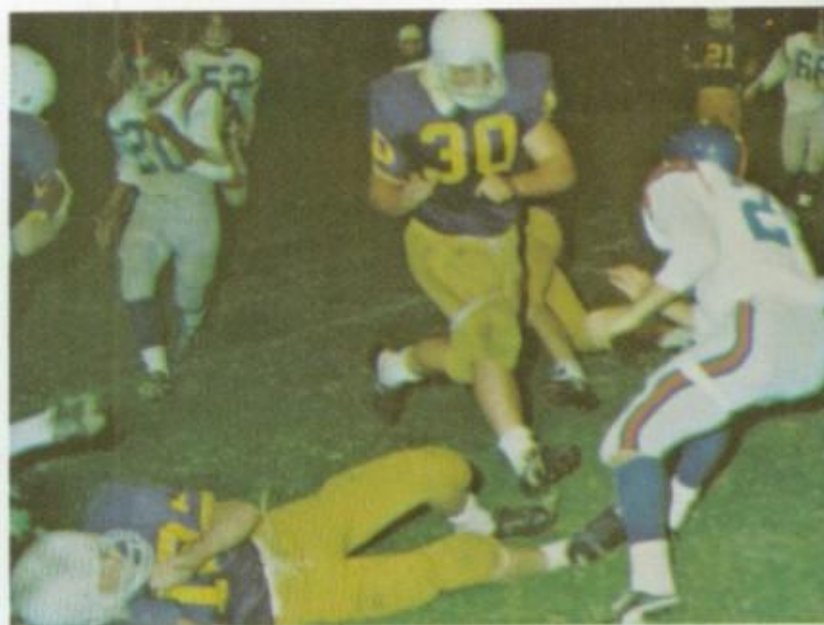

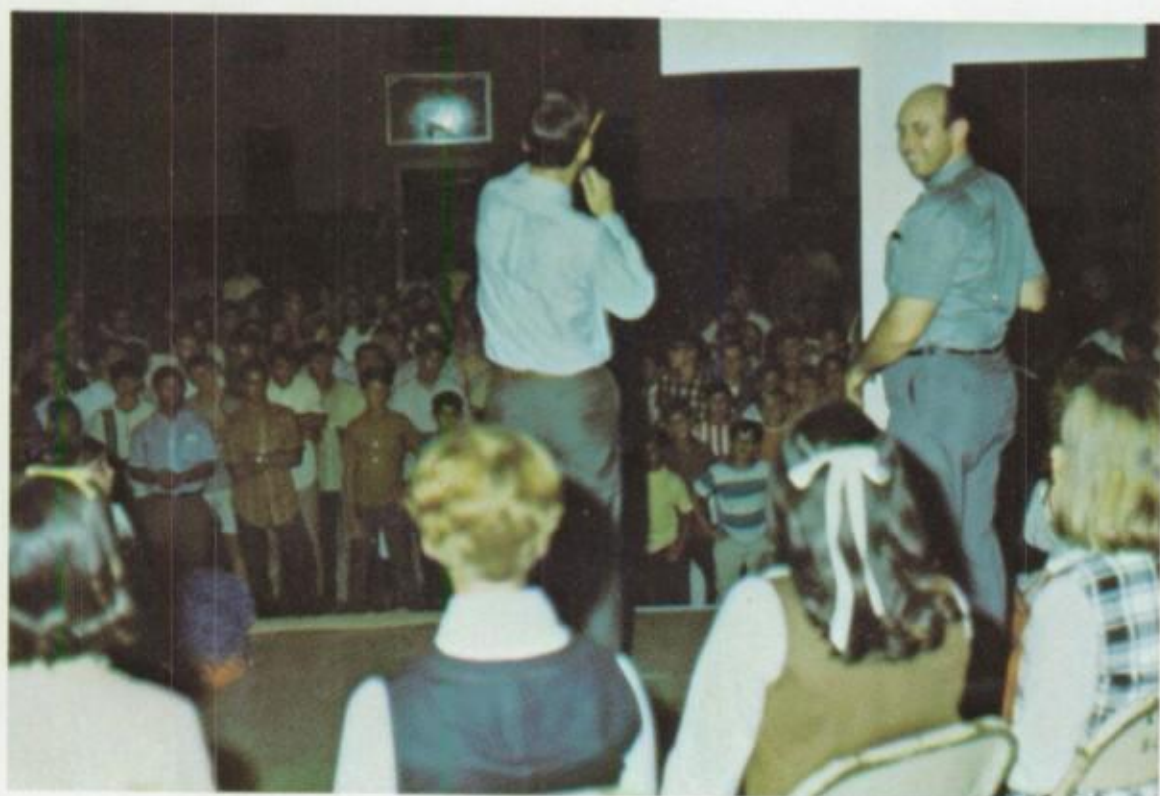

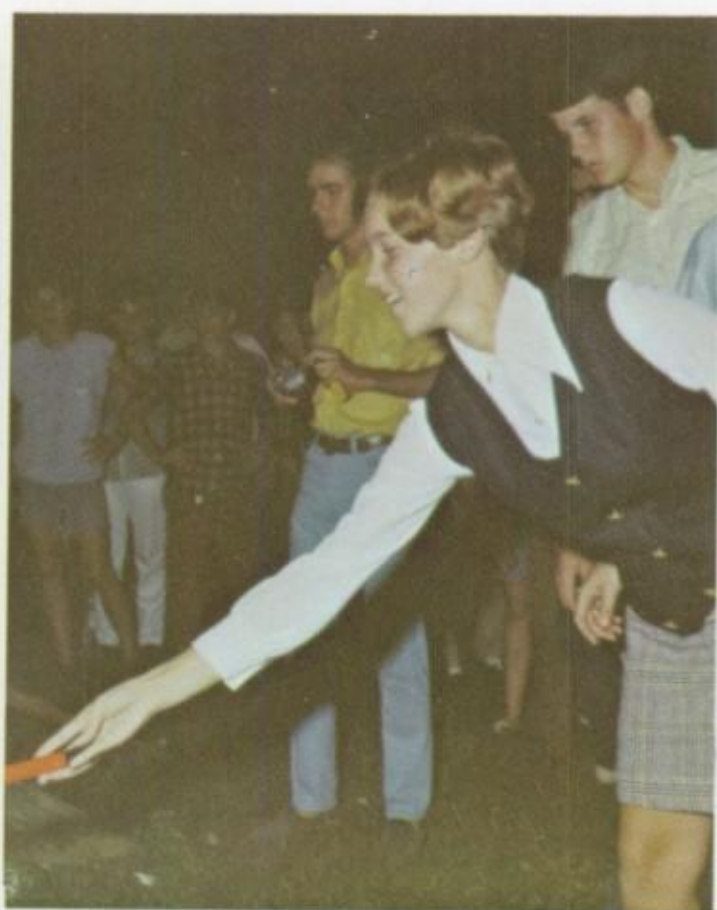

This too was Tiger Week—colorful and alive. It was escorting, decorating, playing football, presenting the Court at the pep rally, riding the Senior float, reigning at the dance, feeling a warmth inside in the social and spirited atmosphere of a bright week.

Landry inaugurated a new festivity for the coming years, truly the first real Homecoming dance when alumni from the past five years got together to dance, to talk over old times, to pose for cheesecake pictures with classmates and to toast each other's good luck.

Juniors And Seniors Enjoyed

The Juniors combined imagination and know how to set mood at prom.

A Kon Tiki god watched over the night's activities at this year's prom.

The Clique from Houston provided an enjoyable four hours of musical entertainment.

Evening Of "Polynesian Paradise"

A water fountain added realism and serenity to a well planned prom.

Jerry Sinitiere and chaperones awaited the beginning of the prom in front of the refreshment stand.

On the warm spring evening of April 19, the annual Landry Junior Senior Prom was held in the St. Charles cafeteria. Through the industrious work of the entire Junior Class, decorations and props were either bought or made to provide the perfect setting of "Polynesian Paradise." The music was by "The Clique" of Houston and was enjoyed by one and all. When the Juniors ran short of money, their mothers were kind enough to provide the delicious refreshments. With all said and done, this was truly a memorable day for the Juniors as well as their Senior guests.

Dan Theriot and Gary Wicke made last minute adjustments in preparations for prom.

Tacky Day Was

Tacky Day was a day to let your hair down.

The faculty had much height and spring, but they just couldn't hit the ball.

The Illustrious Tacky Day Court of 1969

Landry's Mardi Gras

Donny Henry threw a little ballet into his game.

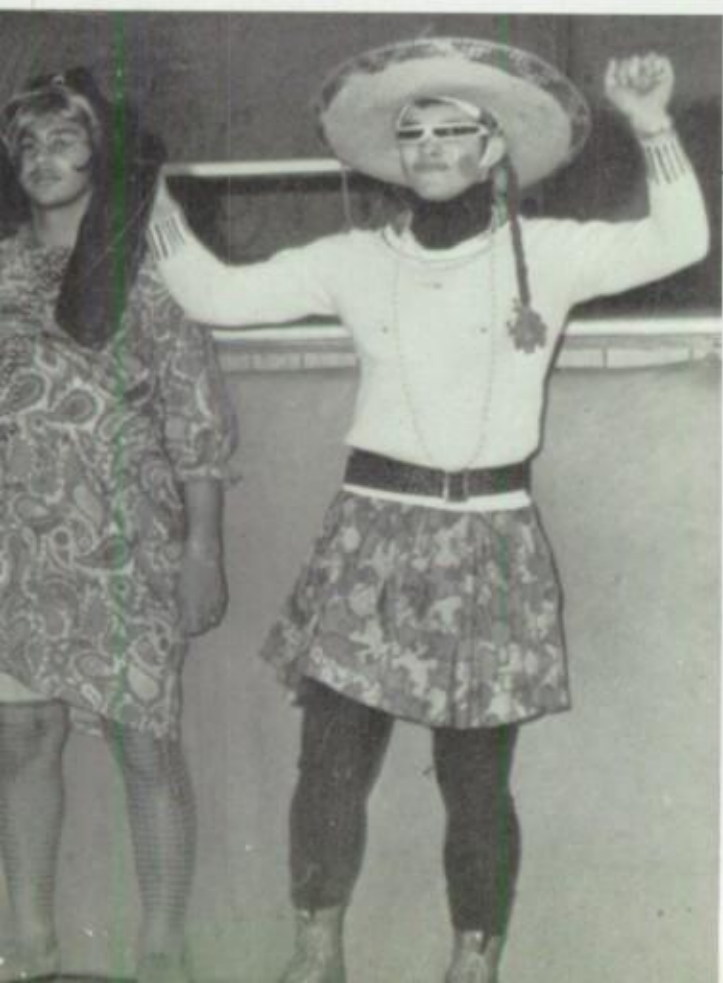

Half the day was spent adjusting wigs, hats, and other things.

Mrs. Van Norman, the faculty's secret weapon, called it like she thought she saw it.

As part of the Mardi Gras celebration, Landry conducts its annual Tacky Day, which provided both entertainment and a welcome break from school. The activities began with the selection of the tackiest from each room. Students wore everything from chains and leather jackets to mini skirts; one even came dressed as a perfect 36-36-24-35. From this group the students voted for the King Rat. Shortly after, the Senior Class challenged the faculty to the volleyball game which was won.

Austin "Mama" Dyer was chosen as King Rat while Wayne "Elf" Fontenot ran a close second.

King Rat was decided by the amount of applause he received before the Student Body.

Landry's Outstanding Christians

The ultimate goal of any secular high school is religious maturity in both thought and action. Upon this basis, 5 Landry students were selected as recipients of the Landry Christian Award. These awards were presented for excellence in the fields of leadership, courage, scholarship, and service.

Leadership And Pelican State

Four Landry Juniors attended the Leadership Conference at LSU during the summer. The conference consisted of classroom lectures and intensive training in yearbook design and publication. Chosen to attend the conference were Donald Broussard, Jack Judice, Michael Romero, and Doug Winn who joined 350 other leaders from the state in a productive two-week seminar.

Jack Judice and Donald Broussard attended creative leadership classes.

Yearbook instructions were given to Mike Romero and Doug Winn.

Sponsored by the American Legion, Pelican State is a gathering of 1200 students from around the state for the purpose of promoting patriotism and responsible citizenship. Held on LSU campus every summer, the program consists of a military society with small political divisions in an effort to give the participants a taste of discipline and a deeper insight into the Democratic process. Entries are chosen on the basis of their past record in leadership and citizenship and their academic ability.

Our Pelican State boys were David Kay and Ernie Fruge.
